Dear Sir/Madam

I have recently attended my GP and they have advised me that I require a Bag-less Urinary Drainage System, installed by U-drain Ltd (please see www.u-drain.com)

The system requires a 13mm hole drilled through the bedroom wall and a small socket fitted in the bedroom next to the bed. A drainage tube is then run down to the soil pipe. The work is less intrusive and less imposing than a satellite dish installation, and should take between one to three hours to fit. The system meets the requirements of Building Regulations part H.

The system installation cost is covered by the NHS and within the cost, is the recovery of the system once I have ceased to use it, this would generally be many years down the line. Once it is no longer required, U-drain would revisit, remove the system and reinstate all works.

Please could you reply giving the necessary permission for the system to be installed at the above address or e-mail directly to info@u-drain.com.

Yours faithfully
